Nikita Holds Another Confab With De Gaulle

Visits Apartment
Where Lenin Formed
Plot for Revolution

PARIS (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev paid brief homage to Nikolai Lenin today, then held another long conference with French President Charles de Gaulle.

Khrushchev visited the apartment in which the Soviet Union's founder plotted revolution while an exile in Paris. Then the Soviet Union's present leader was whisked off to the Elysee Palace for another two-hour session with De Gaulle.

Produces Big Welcome

Khrushchev's visit to the modest third floor apartment in a workers' section produced an almost hysterical welcome, perhaps the most enthusiastic public demonstration since he arrived Wednesday.

About 5,000 persons jammed into the tiny Rue Marie Rose, chasing, shouting, singing and waving Soviet and French flags. Every square foot of space was filled as nearly 500 policemen and detectives cleared a way for the Premier's party.

Another 25,000 people filled adjoining streets, shouting and singing.

Khrushchev, picking up steam since his arrival Wednesday, bustled with energy as he arrived at the Elysee Palace. The conference was the last for the two leaders until Khrushchev returns next Thursday from a fast tour of the provinces.

Diplomatic Conference

Today's talk amounted to a full-fledged diplomatic conference, with Premier Michel Debre and Foreign Ministers Maurice Couve de Murville and Andrei Gromyko attending. At their first session Thursday, Khrushchev and De Gaulle had only their two interpreters with them.

De Gaulle and Khrushchev met first alone, then called in their top aides. One source said the meeting included discussion of cultural and economic relations, comparatively noncontroversial items.

The Soviet Premier continued to drum out insistently the major theme of his visit—his desire to supplant France's strengthening ties with West Germany by a French-Soviet alliance.

Both in a public speech at the Paris Town Hall Thursday afternoon and a banquet toast to De Gaulle Thursday night, Khrushchev again warned against resurgent Germany and called for close ties between his government and De Gaulle's.

Man Sentenced for Salem Burglary

LISBON — One man was sentenced to prison and two were placed on probation at hearings Thursday before Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.

Ronald Carter, 25, of Cranston, R.I., was sentenced to one to 15 years in the Ohio State Penitentiary for the burglary of the Black Horse Tavern in Salem. He had requested probation when he pleaded guilty to the charge at arraignment Jan. 18, but it was refused.

Indicted with Carter for the burglary was James Bagley, 22, of Lisbon RD 4. Bagley also pleaded guilty and asked for probation. His case is still pending.

Carter has a record of one larceny each year since Dec. 10, 1952 except 1956 when he was serving 12 months in jail on a larceny charge.

Roy F. Johnson Jr., 21, of Leetonia RD 2, was placed on five years' probation for the Nov. 13 burglary of Kelly's Roller Rink tool shed near Leetonia. A juvenile involved with Johnson was sent to the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster.

Daniel Morgan, 23, of Salineville RD 1, also received five years' probation on two counts of forgery on the Potters Savings and Loan Assn. at Wellsville.

Both Johnson and Morgan must make restitution.

Reds Reject U. S. Disarmament Approach

Enforcement Unit Pushed By West

GENEVA (AP) — The United States asked the Communist bloc today to begin negotiations on details of a central agency to enforce a worldwide disarmament agreement. The Soviet Union rejected this approach.

American Ambassador Frederick M. Eaton told the 10-nation disarmament conference that East and West agreed to the general idea of having a central enforcement body. He suggested the conference could begin the task of defining the organization and functions of such a body at its next meeting, Monday.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin maintained Eaton's proposal attacked the problem of disarmament the wrong way around. First, he said, let us discuss specific arms cuts and then get into control details.

French disarmament expert Jules Moch told Zorin the Western powers would resist the Soviet approach. In this conference as in others in the past, Moch said, there seemed to be an effort on the Soviet side to whittle down the principle of controls.

"We will not be led down lanes where disarmament is dissociated from controls," Moch said. Speaking in support of Eaton's position, Canadian Gen. E. L. M. Burns drew on his own personal experiences as former head of the United Nations Emergency Force in the Middle East to underline the complexity of the control problem.

Washington (AP)—Southern senators appeared today to be banking on revising one section of the House-passed civil rights bill and thus delaying its passage indefinitely.

This hope was pointed up by Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) as senators at the other end of the scale in the civil rights battle vowed to try to strengthen the House measure.

Indications were, however, that leaders of both parties looked to a majority of the Senate to accept the 5-point bill passed by the House Thursday by a vote of 311-109.

A trimmed-down version of the Eisenhower administration's civil rights program, it provides in its key section for court-appointed referees to prevent discrimination against Negroes seeking to vote.

If the House bill is passed by the Senate without change, it will go directly to President Eisenhower for his approval.

Should the Senate adopt any amendments, the measure would have to go back to the House. This would give Southern opponents there, particularly on the pivotal House Rules Committee, a chance to block any action for weeks or even months.

After receiving the House bill Thursday, the Senate voted 86-5 to refer it to its Judiciary Committee for consideration, but fixed a Tuesday midnight deadline for its return to the Senate.

The action was taken on motion of Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) after the Senate rejected, 72-19, a move by Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) to send the bill to the committee without any deadline.

The committee will meet Monday, but there was no indication what action, if any, it will take on the bill at that time.

Meanwhile the Senate put aside the broader civil rights legislation it had been working on since Feb. 15 and started clearing out a log-

One Dead, Three Hurt As Autos Crash In Storm

Blinding Snow Is Blamed; Niles Man
Killed on Rt. 45

A Niles man was killed and at least three persons were injured in a rash of traffic accidents late Thursday afternoon during a severe snow squall.

The spring snowstorm was so severe that traffic accidents occurred on highways throughout the District. State highway patrolmen were called to investigate at least 30 collisions, but fortunately many were not serious.

The snowstorm made visibility so bad that all vehicles required lights as if it were night.

Killed in one accident was Leroy McBride, 65, of 147 Arlington Ave., Niles. He was killed at 4 p.m. when struck by a truck on Rt. 45, near North Jackson, about one half mile south of the Mahoning-Trumbull County line.

State Patrolmen from the Canfield barracks said McBride was standing along side his stranded automobile when the truck, driven by Roger E. Foor, 23, of Everett, Pa., plowed into him and a second car parked by a motorist who stopped to give McBride assistance.

The other motorist was Steve Viagkovich, 41, RD 1, Canfield. All three vehicles were heading south when the mishap occurred. Patrolmen said McBride left his car after it became stuck in a ditch. He apparently was surveying the situation when hit. Viagkovich and Foor were not hurt.

McBride was taken to St. Joseph Hospital in Warren, where his fatal injuries were listed as "internal hemorrhage." The mishap is still under investigation.

Hurt In Other Accidents

Others injured in the accident spree are:

Clara Hoffee, 64, of RD 4, Lisbon, in fairly good condition at the Salem Central Clinic with chin cuts and chest injuries.

Mary Eshler, 39, RD 1, Berlin Center, leg bruises.

Eleanor Sweeney, 42, of 940 E. 6th St., Salem, neck injury.

Canfield patrolmen said Mrs. Hoffee was driving south on Rt. 45 when a car headed in the opposite direction and driven by Mike Liptak, 28, of Lakewood, went left of center, colliding with the Hoffee car. The mishap occurred about 4 1/2 miles south of Rt. 224 at 4:10 p.m.

Mary Eshler was hurt when the car in which she was riding with Ross Eshler, 48, RD 1, Berlin Center, became involved in a collision with a car driven by Anna B. May, 16, of Duck Creek Rd., RD 4, Salem. The accident occurred at 4:45

Second Bomb Threat Made Against DiSalle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A switchboard operator in the State house was told over the phone Thursday that a bomb was planted in Governor Michael V. DiSalle's office and that he would die Thursday night.

Highway patrolmen searched the office without finding a bomb.

It was the second threat against the governor's life this week. Earlier a southern Ohio man told a staff member he would shoot DiSalle because of the governor's mental health program. Authorities took the man to a receiving hospital for examination.

Also fined was Alice Utterback, 20, of Girard, who paid $10 and costs in Mayor Dean Cramer's traffic court on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance. She was charged after her car ran into the rear of one driven by Virginia Dillon, 19, of Lisbon, at S. Lincoln Ave. and Pershing St.

Cars driven by Harry M. Bartels of 287 Washington Ave. and Robert F. Sabo, 19, of 1788 Fairview Ct., collided at Ohio Ave. and Franklin St. at 7 a.m. There were no injuries.

TEMPORARY APPEARANCE — Tennessee state prison convict Robert Rivera, right, is shown as he made a brief appearance outside the deputy warden's office at the prison in Nashville Thursday. Huge Gain Reported in National Output

Next Recession Won't Hit U.S. Before 1961

WASHINGTON (AP) — The next recession won't come before 1961 at the earliest, government economists predicted today.

Officials reported privately that national output in this quarter has reached the rate of about 500 billion dollars a year, the largest gain in any quarter since 1950.

This was an advance estimate of the actual figure, but officials said the preliminary studies indicate the final report won't be far off the half-trillion dollar mark, one way or the other.

This would represent an advance of roughly 16 1/2 billion dollars since the last quarter of 1959, when the economy was still beset by the steel strike and its after effects. The gain, largest since the outbreak of the Korean War, was accomplished without price inflation and in the face of a February slowdown in steel and auto production.

Much of the first quarter gain was attributed to industry's race to replace inventories depleted during the 115-day steel shutdown which ended early in November. This inventory replacement took less time than was expected and a slower rate of accumulation is expected from now on.

Nevertheless, continued production gains through the year were foreseen by government experts interviewed privately. They did not share the uncertainty in financial circles which has been reflected in recent stock market slumps and a rapid easing of credit.

The government analysts are relying on a substantial rise in industry's outlays for new plants, machinery and equipment to keep the economy expanding.

Corporations have notified the Commerce Department and Securities and Exchange Commission of plans to increase such outlays this year by 14 per cent over 1959. The rate in the second half of the year is scheduled to reach a record 38 billion dollars annually.

Some officials believe it will go higher. They think expansion and modernization outlays may rise to a rate of 39 or even 40 billion dollars annually by fall.

This buoying force may diminish in 1961, as the companies taper off their expansion outlays to let demand catch up with their new capacity.

Then would be the time to look for a recession, one highly placed official said. But as for 1960, he continued, "a recession is conceivable this year only if the automobile industry goes sour."

Give Up After Prison Officials Okay Demands

Investigation Begun
On How Dangerous
Pair Got Pistols

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — State Penitentiary officials sought today to learn how a pair of dangerous convicts got the two pistols they used to hold 19 persons hostage for 25 tense hours.

Warden Lynn Bomar began the investigation late Thursday after Robert Rivera and Raymond Farra surrendered meekly when their scaled-down demands were met. The hostages, three women and 16 men, were released unharmed.

The warden told newsmen the pistols might have come from a guard, not identified, who was fired last month for smuggling guns into the prison. He said the former guard was not prosecuted, but charges may be placed against him "in the light of what has happened."

Farra, 25, a native of Borderland, W. Va., is listed on prison records as insane and capable of murder. He is serving a life sentence for kidnaping. He was committed to the prison after escaping from a mental institution.

Rivera, 24, from Temple, Tex., was called by officials "one of the most dangerous prisoners ever to enter this penitentiary." He is serving 40 years for armed robbery.

The pair grabbed 21 hostages at the deputy warden's office shortly after 3 p.m. Wednesday as prisoners were being paid scrip for work done.

One hostage, inmate Sam Broyles, was released during the night because he was ill. Another, Jack Warrick, a telephone operator-guard, was turned loose several hours later for the same reason.

Rivera and Farra first demanded a car and three state employees as shields to accompany them on a run for freedom. This was flatly refused.

After a tense night and day of negotiating with state and prison officials, they finally came out under this signed and notarized agreement:

They would be taken to the Davidson County Jail here "un-

Chamberlain Declares He's Quitting Game

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain, who broke virtually every record in the National Basketball Assn. this season as a rookie, is quitting the game. "I'll never play basketball in the NBA again," Chamberlain told the New York Post today.

The Post said Chamberlain made his decision after his team, the Philadelphia Warriors, lost in the NBA playoffs Thursday night in Philadelphia to the Boston Celtics 119-117.

"This was my last game," the Post quoted the 7-foot-1 giant saying. "This is it."

"I hate to go out this way. I was hoping our team would go all the way and I could go out a winner. But my mind is made up."

Asked what were his plans for the future, Chamberlain said: "Hibernation."

Chamberlain, called the greatest basketball player of the generation, was voted both the most valuable player and rookie of the year in the NBA this year.

He led scoring with an average of 37.6 points for 75 games. He made more shots, more rebounds and played more minutes in one year than any other player in league history.

Raising Underpass Clearance On Ohio Roads to be Costly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It will cost more than 16 million dollars to provide another foot and a half of clearance between Ohio's key highways and the bridges that cross over them, the State Highway Department said today.

The U.S. Department of Defense says a minimum vertical clearance of 16 feet is needed to allow such things as missiles to be transported cross-country by truck.

Last month, Highway Director Everett S. Preston accused the federal government of being unable to make up its mind about the clearance. The roads involved are on the 41,000-mile interstate system designed to link the nation's major cities by the mid-1970's. Minimum clearance below overpasses on the interstate system originally was set at 14 feet.

Ohio decided to make the clearance 15 feet on its part of the

One Killed, 3 Hurt In Truck-Train Crash

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP)—A truck-locomotive crash west of here Thursday killed one man and injured three others.

Killed was Forrest D. Davidson, 39, of Winston-Salem, N. C., relief driver of the semi-trailer truck. The crash occurred two miles east of the Ross-Fayette County line at the U.S. 35-Baltimore & Ohio Railroad crossing.

The Highway Patrol said the truck failed to yield right-of-way to the yard engine.

Dennis C. Bragg, 26, also of Winston-Salem, the truck driver, was listed in critical condition at a hospital here. Dan R. Sorrell of Dayton, the train engineer, was taken to a Washington Court House hospital with bruises. Robert Denton of Dayton, the fireman was examined at the hospital.

Get the Facts, Sen. Young

Ohio's junior senator, Stephen M. Young, should have picked up enough wisdom on his way to seniority in years to know the difference between a shotgun and a rifle when he draws a bead on a public issue.

His blast in the Senate against President Eisenhower's request for increased rates for first class mail became a shotgun assault when he said the Post Office Department's deficit could be blamed on a "virtual government subsidy amounting to almost 750 million dollars to newspapers, magazines and business groups."

If Sen. Young had used a rifle instead of a shotgun, he would have said that newspapers have gone on record repeatedly that they are willing to pay whatever it costs the Post Office Department to handle the copies of their publication sent through the mail and that they believe they now are doing this, with something to spare.

They want the Post Office Department to use realistic bookkeeping that will show the actual cost of service, instead of fast-shuffle bookkeeping that shifts deficits from one type of service into a catch-all deficit which then can be blamed on the whipping boys of politicians who find it profitable to take out their spite on newspapers, magazines and businessmen.

A large volume of statistical facts on what it actually costs the Post Office Department to handle various classes of mail has been put together by American Newspaper Publishers Assn. There are no secrets about the newspaper industry's point of view. It wants to pay the Post Office Department everything it owes. It does not want to pay more than it owes — and it does not want politicians to make shotgun charges that newspapers are being subsidized by the government. If anything, it's the other way around.

Chief and foremost among post office free loaders are senators, representatives and other public employees who use the franking privilege to distribute mail.

Chin Up, We're Making History

If bursitis is making your life bleak after too much snow shoveling:

If your fuel bill is in a higher orbit than most of the hardware fired from Cape Canaveral:

If you are tired of snow inside your shoes and down your collar:

If your winter overcoat is beginning to look like something that went to Moscow and back with Napoleon:

If you feel about the prospect of spring the way Noah felt when he was waiting for the dove to come back:

If your heart aches with pity whenever you think of the beating your automobile has taken for the last six weeks:

If you are toying with the idea of asking the Air Force to fly over and drop food and medical supplies on the lonely outpost of civilization you are trying to maintain:

If the figures on your ledger show the effect of the latest springtime lease on life in human memory:

If you are sitting in a snug farm kitchen wondering when, if ever, you can get at the plowing:

If everything in your life has been switched around for the worse because temperatures have been lower than usual and the snow higher:

Keep your chin up.

This is now a historic winter — a landmark in the climatic recollections of every person who is surviving it. It will rank with the great floods, the big snows and the big winds of all time — back there in '60, the year the weather suddenly went from good to bad, then from bad to worse and stayed worse for 40 days, 40 nights and then some.

America Elects a First Couple

Well seasoned Reiman Morin reports from Wisconsin for the Associated Press that Mrs. Hubert Humphrey and Mrs. John Kennedy are making a terrific impact in the state's Democratic presidential primary campaign. But discounting Pat Morin's enthusiasm for two lovely ladies in what may be the only first-rate contest in pre-convention skirmishing, most of us feel that the place of the candidate's wife in politics is too well established to be noteworthy any more.

In the successful campaign of William Proxmire to succeed the late Joseph R. McCarthy in the U.S. Senate in 1957, it was understood from the outset that Wisconsin voters would be electing a man-and-wife team. Many voters felt, in fact, that Mrs.

Proxmire was the more effectual campaigner. This is getting to be an old story in the United States.

Women are a potential majority of voters. Many of them have a flair for politics that gives it a dimension of charm and grace men alone never could lend to it. They are never-say-die workers in campaigns behind the scenes. It is only to be expected, therefore, that women married to political candidates should solicit votes in their husbands' behalf.

In presidential contests, America likes to think it is choosing a first couple as well as a president. With due respect to Adlai Stevenson's strength as a candidate in two presidential races, he would have been stronger with a wife at his side and to substitute for him when he could not be present. Mamie Eisenhower is not a speaker, but she drew her fair share of votes.

Pat Nixon surely has not been the least part of her husband's attractiveness as a rising political figure. And would anyone deny that when Harry Truman was in the White House it was good to know that his good Bess was there, too? Eleanor Roosevelt attracted voters to her husband, and before the Roosevelts the Hoovers—Herbert and Lou Henry—always were admired as a couple.

After all, it was an American couple who started the tradition that the White House was at its best when occupied by a man-and-wife team. Martha Washington did not go stumping for her husband, but there never was any doubt she was his helpmeet, his plantation manager during his absences and his charming hostess.

It is good to know the ladies are getting the attention they deserve in Wisconsin and a safe bet that in the 1960 presidential contest the candidates' wives will be as influential in their special way as their husbands.

Nobody can convince this writer that federal, state, and city governments are against waste of money when they pour millions into some of the beach-filling projects presumably to halt erosion. Jobs we have seen have been poorly done, with the new beaches largely washed away in a short time. Beach building without suitable "groins" to prevent damage from the high seas is a waste of funds. Up in our neck of the woods, the results of a costly job done only a couple of years ago are largely invisible. It's all done by mirrors.

Jack and the Beanstalk

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Walter Reuther's future could well be riding in the helicopter I'm about to describe. Let's take it from the beginning. That helicopter is part of an "air force" now being used by many giant construction companies as they rip up vast mileage of earth, string vital cables across the land, throw up huge dams and erect mile-long plants. One of the nation's ace construction experts, Lester C. Rogers, has just revealed "that many general contractors operate an air force of their own with planes to transport executives, labor and freight."

One of the "most valuable" pieces of equipment in this force is a helicopter which is used as an airborne hoisting mechanism. It can lower cable equipment and can simply lift and place tons of material while it hovers low in the air over a project.

THIS TECHNIQUE was used recently in constructing one of the Conair plants. A helicopter was employed to hoist and place 100 tons of heating and ventilating equipment on the roof of a 13-acre building. Thus one full month's work was done in one shift. The saving in men and material was enormous.

The helicopter also "is a natural in handling the transportation and erection problems of long transmission lines," according to Rogers, former president of the Associated General Contractors. Again there's a saving in manpower and material and transportation costs. But the flying eggbeaters are not the only modern gadgets whipping up a mess for Walter Reuther, as I'll show in a moment.

There is, for example, the closed circuit television apparatus.

In excavation work a man high up in a control tower using a wide angle lens and a coaxial cable—such as those that carry the parlor variety TV programs—can see deep into a hole half-a-mile away. Thus the operator needs no signalman to pass him information from the edge of the excavation itself. Other workers are eliminated, too. Then there is the Polaris missile experimental launching base in the Pacific Ocean. The contractor used an underwater TV camera. With it he was able to supervise from a barge the construction and inspection of the placing of pre-packed concrete 100 feet below the water's surface.

THERE ARE SCORES of other modern devices which save construction manpower—such as the electronic equipment, run by one man, which bites 100 cubic yards of dirt from the earth in one swoop. All that's needed is the touch of a finger to a button. In the "old days" one man could dig half a yard at a time with traditional equipment.

Thus members of the AFL-CIO Construction Trades Unions see a tightening future for their members. They now total some three million workers. To keep this number employed, the construction unions want every bit of building and maintenance work to be in their jurisdiction.

Walter Reuther and some of the other old CIO unions, such as the Steelworkers and Oil Workers want their members to do the extension and maintenance work on plants in which they are making cars and steel and digging and refining oil. This past weekend the feud between the construction union bloc and the Reuther people hit one of the climaxes which soon will shake the AFL-CIO coalition. The Plumbers Union pulled out of the special Industrial Union Dept. which is headed by Reuther.

IN THE LAST MONTH, the Operating Engineers Union and the Molders Union quit the special industrial union group.

It is expected that soon the remaining construction unions—the Hod Carriers, the Electrical Workers Brotherhood, the Boilermakers and the Painters—will follow.

This will leave Reuther and his colleagues of the old CIO in complete control of this section of the AFL-CIO.

Then the feud will break into the open, though George Meany in the meantime will attempt to make peace at a series of private conferences. The first was held this week in Washington.

Both blocs are powerful. Reuther's division has an eight-million-dollar strike fund and a three-million-dollar treasury. The construction unions have enough money to make this seem like petty cash.

If they win, they could undercut Reuther's influence as a major force in labor — and the nation. If Reuther wins, he'll be Mr. Labor in a few years.

Diplomatic Precedent

By DAVID LAWRENCE

U.S. Condemns Shooting of South Africans

Sometimes tradition goes by the boards and, as the saying goes, "fools rush in where angels fear to tread." Maybe this time the saying will be reversed and the tacticians of diplomatic policy will be proved not "fools" but "angels."

For the Department of State, in expressing shock and dismay at the way the police fired on a mob in South Africa, certainly reversed tradition. It remains to be seen whether this unprecedented step-making as official comment on the action of another government in a strictly internal police problem—will add up to more advantages than disadvantages.

It must be noted at the outset, however, that the State Department has lately expressed itself on another issue that has always been looked upon as internal but this didn't attract much attention. Thus Secretary of State Herter sent word to the Korean government the other day that the department here was sorry to read about the disorders attending the election in Korea.

The unfortunate implication was that the government in Seoul was somehow responsible for these, when the truth is that the few cases of disorder were the natural outgrowth of deep-seated emotions about the election here and there among the populace.

It is doubtful whether many republics have always been free from such disorders in the past.

As for the public comment by the State Department on the South African episode, this may appear to be injudicious in the sense that an internal matter under inquiry by a friendly government is discussed.

INCIDENTALLY, it puts on the spot the British government, which has remained silent officially. Newspapers in England are taunting the government there by citing the American government's example of outspoken condemnation of the handling of the riots in South Africa.

There was a time when it would have been considered the height of diplomatic impropriety for the American government, or any other, to issue comments on internal happenings in a country with which it was maintaining friendly relations.

This rule has been followed for the most part by the United States, particularly in recent years by withholding formal comment on France's problem in Algeria and also on most of the disorders that occur inside Latin-American states.

But the question now has arisen as to whether this type of aloofness has outlived its usefulness. The famous Article 11 inserted in the United Nations Charter by Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan broke with precedent, as it provided that the General Assembly "may discuss any question relating to the maintenance of international peace and security."

Today the United States government takes its stand against violence and in favor of the use of moral force in the settlement of all disputes, international or internal.

This is a worthy ideal and gives the American government a chance to speak out plainly about brutality in dealing with the "legitimate grievances" of the people of Tibet or Hungary or in depicting the cruelty of the Castro dictatorship when political foes are executed without a fair trial.

THE SOVIET UNION, for example, has consistently argued that the satellite governments in eastern Europe have themselves invited Soviet troops to be stationed within their borders, yet the whole world knows this is a fiction.

Under such circumstances, the oppressed peoples like to hear words of encouragement such as have come from the American government, though, to be sure, this has been ridiculed by some of our own politicians as a useless gesture of "liberation" because it isn't intended that force will be applied. These critics insist that, unless America is prepared to back up its words with military aid, nothing should be said.

But those who argue that way are not yet convinced of what can be done in the world by moral force as contrasted with military force. The latter is necessary, just as police protection against mobs in South Africa will be defended as justified. But this does not mean that attempts should not be made by moral force and conciliatory methods to adjust internal disputes and find an orderly way to deal, through discussion and calm councils, with controversies that otherwise could lead to violence and bloodshed.

THE ADVANTAGES, therefore, of speaking out must have appealed to the Department of State as outweighing the disadvantages.

The American people, however, now must be prepared to read comments by other governments about our own troubles and shortcomings, whether they be about incidents in Harlem or at the lunch counters of chain stores in the South or about the Chessman case in California.

International debate that is prompted by a sincere desire to ease rather than provoke friction is constructive but sometimes it has to be balanced against resentments that are aroused by meddling in the internal affairs of another country.

The State Department would have fared better if it had confined its public statement to a report to the South African government, describing the painful impression which the riots had produced on American public opinion and merely recording that significant fact as a matter of natural interest to the South African authorities.

Such a statement would have accomplished the main purpose and yet would have been in accord with established precedent.

New York Herald Tribune

In The Springtime

By TRUMAN TWILL

Poetry-wise, what happens in the springtime is that young men's fancies lightly turn to thoughts of love. Tennyson said so.

But around this part of the country, young men don't wait for springtime. There is spring love, but it's no better than summer romances, the bitter-sweet passions of autumn, or the crispy, crackly affairs of winter.

What happens in the springtime is that the bottom falls out of the secondary roads and this gives a driver who learned his steering linkage in the earlier days of the automobile a chance to be a kid again until the patchwork gang gets busy.

The only difference between the earlier days and these later days is the addition to the secondary roads of tertiary roads that are worse than the secondaries.

The tertiary roads are in the suburbs where streets were laid out and formalized with pie-crust surfaces that fall to pieces in the first frost and grow progressively worse until they are impassable by spring.

These are a revived challenge to a driver who grew up in an era when chuckhole dodging was a requirement for operating an automobile. A new generation of drivers growing up in an era of super-highways turns off the supers on to roads that would have terrified their great grandparents.

The only net advance in three generations is that road builders no longer rely absolutely on the probability that mud and slime will dry out by the middle of May to make a firm surface. Today, road builders augment mud with cinders, gravel, slag and glistening mixtures of grit and gunk.

Moreover, automobile builders have improved their product with systems of suspension that do not rely absolutely on the probability that a packet of steel spring leaves will absorb the impact of a chuckhole's foot deep. Automobiles have better suspension systems, better tires and better construction.

The way the bottom falls out of the roads each March reflects the American credo that half a road is better than none. For every Apian Way that has been built in this country, there are several hundred thousand leveled-off surfaces that fall to pieces once a year.

A driver is challenged to see how many chuckholes can be dodged while maintaining reasonable speed—a game of visual calculation in which the operator's eye is pitted against a crazy-quilt pattern of disintegration.

To the loser goes a bump on the head, a broken car and a sense of failure. To the winner goes the satisfaction of outwitting the hazards of disintegration temporarily, though knowing that the next stretch of chuckholes and right-angle ruts may be his Waterloo.

Poets will never rhapsodize about it, but it's a commoner human experience than letting fancies lightly turn to thoughts of love when the world sinks into the primordial ooze of springtime. Alfred Tennyson had a cramped notion of what really happens in springtime. Young men, middle-aged men and old men—we all dodge chuckholes.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a salesman and works out of town five days a week. On Friday when he comes home he lines up our three kids and invites them to tell on each other. According to him, it's the only way he can find out what goes on in the house when he's away.

I never liked this idea from the day he started it two years ago. Our youngest is 5 and it makes me sick to listen to him tattletale on his older brothers. Last night he told the boys that he's also interested in what Mom does all week. Does she have any callers and is she home nights?

I really got sore about this. He said if I have nothing to hide it should make no difference.

Please let me have your opinion, Ann. I want to show him your answer.—MRS. S. D. R.

Dear Ann: A year ago our son was married to a girl we all like. She has a warm, outgoing personality and is considered a good sport by everyone.

One little thing bothers us, however, and maybe you can offer some seasoned advice. Our daughter-in-law calls us "Hazel" and "Don." We know she doesn't mean to be disrespectful but it doesn't sound very nice in front of other people.

I always feel a little jealous when I hear daughters-in-law of my friends call them "Mother" and "Dad." Do you think we should tell our son or should we skip it?—JUST HAZEL AND DON.

Dear H. and D.: Skip it and be happy that your daughter-in-law feels comfortable calling you by

If you could read my mail for a week and see what some in-laws get called, you'd be happy to settle for Hazel and Don.

MR. AND MRS. Ross D. Painter of Jennings Ave., whose marriage took place 50 years ago Wednesday, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at an open reception Sunday afternoon in the First Christian Church.

Ross Painter and the former Clara M. Stewart were married on March 23, 1910 in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Stewart. Mr. Painter is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Painter. The Rev. M. J. Grable, then pastor of the Christian Church, officiated.

Two hundred attended the celebration planned by the honoree's daughter, Mrs. J. Herbert Yengling of Akron, and their son, Stewart M. Painter of Detroit, Mich. Mrs. Wallace Stewart of Akron, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Painter, registered the guests from Akron, Alliance, Leetonia, Uniontown, Columbiana, Kent and Silver Spring, Md.

The table, laid with white linen, was made attractive with a centerpiece of mixed spring flowers, all in yellow and gold candles. The individual tables were decorated with candles tied with gold ribbons and enhanced by wedding bells.

Members of the Ruth Group of the Christian Women's Fellowship served. The couple's granddaughter, Martha Ann Yengling of Akron, presided at the gift table.

Mrs. Charles Butz, Mrs. Vera Exchliman, Mrs. Ola Shriver and Mrs. John Bushman of Salem, and Mrs. Harry McClintock of Warren posed.

LADIES NIGHT was observed by the Brotherhood of St. Jacob's United Church of Christ at a recent dinner-meeting in the church.

Dale Miller, president of the Brotherhood, conducted the meeting, and the Rev. A. A. Kosower gave the invocation. "Forgiveness" was the theme of the devotions presented by Dean Price.

The Jay-nettes Quartet entertained with two vocal numbers, and a movie, "Birds of Ohio," was shown.

ELSIE MATTI Missionary Circle met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ewing Gregg of Benton Road. Mrs. Robert Todd led the devotions. A buffalo nickel collection amounting to $75 was turned in for the Ohio Yearly Meeting project of making films of the mission fields in India and Formosa.

Mrs. Ray Dean entertained with amusing readings, and Mrs. Kenneth Howells reviewed the book, "Dr. Sa'eed of Iran."

Assisting Mrs. Gregg were her associate hostesses, Mrs. Sam Rea Jr. and Mrs. Clifford Aiken Jr.

A place for the April 20 meeting will be announced, but members are reminded to bring clothing for the Bethany Orphanage in Kentucky.

County Home Economics Assn. Completes Plans For Tea

The Columbiana County Home Economics Association has completed plans for its annual Career Day Tea April 3 from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Salem High School Student Lounge.

Special invitations have been sent to junior and senior girls who are going to college and who, it was felt by faculty members, might be interested in the possibilities available in the field of home economics.

Two outstanding events have been planned for the program. After the girls are welcomed by Mrs. George Fisher of Columbiana, president of the association, Mrs. E. W. Tischendorf, head of the Home Economics Department at Hiram College, will be the featured guest speaker.

Mrs. Tischendorf will present a short informal talk entitled, "The HE in Your Future," followed by a question and answer period.

A style show of college fashions will be presented by Strouss-Hirshberg of Salem.

The girls will be greeted and introduced to the association members and guests by: Miss Julia Shank, Lisbon; Mrs. James Fruit, East Palestine; and Mrs. J. W. Benson, Mrs. Stanley Correll, Miss Janice Bethel, all of Salem.

Refreshments will be provided by the Columbiana County Alumni Home Council with Mrs. J. Eells of Elkton serving as chairman.

U.N. to Discuss Racial Conflict

Meeting Asked by Asian-African Bloc

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council will be called into a special session early next week to discuss the explosive South African racial conflict.

The Asian-African bloc called for the meeting. They planned to present a formal request later for the council to take up the situation arising from the killing of some 80 Negro demonstrators by South African police this week. The Asian-African letter, reportedly said the South African situation was a potential threat to international peace.

U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, Security Council president for March, told newsmen he would convene the 11-nation group "within a few days"—probably on Tuesday.

Diplomats said the Asian-African bloc countries were considering asking the council to condemn the killings and to create an investigating committee.

Only seven votes are necessary to put the issue on the council's agenda, and the Asian-African request seemed certain to muster that many.

Lodge would not say how the United States would vote. But he noted that is the past the United States has held that South Africa's segregation policy—the root of the present trouble—was "a proper subject for discussion in the United Nations."

The South African government has protested and boycotted all previous U.N. debates on its white supremacy policy. The 82-nation General Assembly ruled then that it could discuss the issue but was not competent to intervene.

Acute tension still gripped South Africa but no new violence was reported.

Negro absentees from work continued to increase in South Africa, producing a creeping industrial paralysis. The stay-at-home movement was organized after the earlier demonstrations ended in bloodshed.

The Negroes' immediate aim is to get rid of the identification passbooks which all Negroes are required to carry outside their homes.

HEARING DATE CHANGED

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court has changed the date of a hearing of Mrs. Edythe Klump's appeal from a first-degree murder conviction from April 21 to May 5. Mrs. Klump was sentenced to death in the Ohio Penitentiary electric chair for the Oct. 31, 1958, slaying of Mrs. Louise Bergen in Cincinnati. Mrs. Klump's attorney, William F. Hopkins, asked for the date change because he is scheduled to be in New York on another case April 21.

WORKERS VOTE TO STRIKE

CLEVELAND (AP)—Grievances over safety, health and production standards at Ford Motor Co.'s Brook Park engine plants and foundry have led to a 2,907-88 vote for a strike by United Auto Workers Local 1250. Announcing results of the strike vote taken Tuesday and Wednesday, union officials said sanction for a walkout must be given by the international union and a 12-day notice to the employer is required.

GROUND BREAKING SET

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ground will be broken Sunday at a 53-acre site in suburban Parma for the three-million-dollar St. Anthony of Padua High School and Church. The school, slated for completion by September, 1961, will accommodate 800 boys.

In and About Our Schools

Buckeye Garden Club

"Forcing Early Shrubs" was the topic for the Buckeye Junior Garden Club meeting Wednesday at the school. Visual education on wildlife was also presented.

Two movies in sound and color highlighted the meeting. "Beautiful Birds of Ohio" showed birds in their natural habitat in Ohio from the largest waterfowl to the smallest hummingbirds. "Nature's Children" revealed a full year of survival of many wild animals from the very young to the season's parent.

The children were instructed in the early forcing of shrubs. To highlight this, forsythia and pussy-willows, prepared by Rebecca Asaad, a member, were shown, and each child received a pussywillow shoot to take home for spring planting.

Members of the sponsoring club present were Mrs. O. A. Naragon and Mrs. G. R. Limestahl, assisted by Miss Harriet Percival, the fourth grade teacher, and junior assistants, Annie Kniefel and Gary Knotts.

The basic principals of flower arranging will be Mrs. William Lowry's topic for the April 26 meeting.

John Lardner, Columnist, Dies

Death Attributed To Heart Failure

NEW YORK (AP) — John Lardner, 47, noted columnist and author and son of the late Ring Lardner, died Thursday night at his Manhattan home.

Death was attributed to heart failure. He had been hospitalized recently because of a heart attack.

John was one of four sons of Ring Lardner, all of whom followed their famous father's footsteps in becoming newsmen, sportswriters, columnists or authors.

John, early in his career, was a newspaperman and sports writer. He had been writing a weekly sports column for Newsweek magazine since 1939.

About a year and a half ago he began writing a column on television and radio for the New Yorker magazine. For a time, he also served as the New Yorker's drama critic.

Among John's books were "It Beats Working," "White Hopes and Other Tigers," and "Strong Cigars and Lovely Women."

John's urbanity and wit in his writings were reminiscent of the prose style of his father who died in 1933.

John started his career as a reporter for the New York Herald Tribune from 1931-33. He became a sports columnist for the North American Newspaper Alliance, for which he worked until 1948.

During World War II, Lardner served as a war correspondent with the U. S. Army, covering operations in every major theater. Born in Chicago, he studied at Phillips Academy and Harvard University.

Among survivors are his widow, Hazel, two daughters and a son.

A private funeral will be held at the Frank E. Campbell funeral church. The time of the funeral was not immediately announced.

John's death leaves Ring Lardner Jr. as the sole surviving son of Ring Sr. Ring Jr. was one of the "Hollywood Ten," prominent screen writers who were convicted of contempt in 1947 for refusing to say if they had Communist connections. He now resides in New York.

EXPERT GIVES TIPS FOR SAVING MONEY ON INCOME TAX

With April 15 just around the corner, millions of Americans are working and worrying over their income-tax returns. And many will overpay their taxes, says a Washington expert, because they are unaware of all the deductions, exemptions, exclusions and credits to which they are legally entitled.

In the informative Family Weekly article, "Honest Ways To Save On Your Income Tax," Milton Christie, editor of the Kiplinger Tax Letter, covers such points as (1) nontaxable income, (2) medical expenses and other deductions, (3) who may or may not be counted as an exemption, (4) how to take advantage of tax credits, and (5) which tax form is best for you to use. You'll find it all in Family Weekly, distributed with your Saturday Edition of THE SALEM NEWS.

The same issue features the late John Foster Dulles' brother, Allen, in the intriguing article, "The Dulles Nobody Knows." Probably the world's most efficient master spy, Allen Dulles remains as mysterious as the cloak-and-dagger organization he heads.

Regular Family Weekly features include some delicious but inexpensive recipes for your family menu, riddles and games for the children in the Junior Treasure Chest, and the jokes and cartoons of Quips and Quotes.

Athens Woman Ohio 'Mother of Year'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Selection of Mrs. Frank B. Dilley of Athens, mother of four children, as Ohio Mother of 1960 was announced here today. She becomes a candidate for the title of American Mother of 1960.

Her selection was announced by a committee of seven Ohio women representing club, church and civic organizations throughout the state.

Mrs. Dilley will be guest of honor at a luncheon April 2, at the Columbus YWCA. Mrs. Michael V. DiSalle, wife of the governor, will present the award.

Mrs. Dilley is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University. Her husband, Dr. Frank Dilley, is a retired member of the Ohio University faculty. She has been active in church and civic affairs in Athens, and was nominated for the honor by the Junior Guild Conservation League of Athens.

Of her children, Frank Jr. is an ordained Presbyterian minister; James is a student at Syracuse University, and Joseph is a music teacher and composer of band music in Minnesota. A daughter, Mrs. Marvin White, lives in Columbus.

Macmillan, Ike to Meet Next Week

Britain Believed Seeking U.S. Agreement on Nuclear Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is expected to urge President Eisenhower to agree to a modified version of the Soviet proposal for banning nuclear weapons tests.

Macmillan, who will meet with Eisenhower next week, is understood to favor a time limit of about two years on the proposed moratorium on small underground tests.

Eisenhower administration leaders, in contrast to the British view, have so far decided only that the United States should not flatly reject the Soviet plan, it is understood.

A major difficulty facing the President in his forthcoming talks with Macmillan is that some of his chief advisers from the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission feel another series of underground nuclear weapons tests must be held some time in the relatively near future, perhaps late this fall. Agreement on any moratorium would bar such tests.

Macmillan is due in Washington late Saturday for probably two days of talks with Eisenhower beginning Monday. They may be held here or at Camp David, the President's Catocin Mountain retreat, or at his Gettysburg farm.

The Soviet proposition was put before Britain and the United States in three-power talks at Geneva. These talks have been under way since the fall of 1958. Until February they were aimed at producing a treaty which would prohibit all testing of atomic weapons with a system of inspection to prevent cheating.

In February Eisenhower called for a new approach on the agreement on a ban limited to those tests large enough to be detected easily. Scientists had advised that small underground explosions would be difficult for an inspection system to detect and that cheating on them would be possible.

The Soviets first denounced the President's limited treaty proposal but then on Saturday switched their position. They said they would be willing to negotiate a limited treaty provided that the three powers would at the same time agree to an informal moratorium on the small underground tests.

Their proposition is very similar to the line taken by the British in discussing Eisenhower's limited treaty plan at the time it was being developed. The British argued that the United States should declare its readiness to continue a voluntary ban on small underground tests for a period of time such as two years. During this period, they contended, ways might be found to improve detection methods so that all testing, including small underground explosions, could then be covered by the treaty.

The British position as it was being developed is thus very close to the present Soviet position. Some officials think that one reason the Soviets switched to a limited treaty concept was that they hoped thereby to split Britain and the United States.

Khrushchev

To Khrushchev's blandishments and his bristling attack on friendly West Germany, De Gaulle has maintained a courteous reserve. A high French source indicated De Gaulle would avoid getting into a public argument over Germany's visit into a propaganda battle.

"The replies will be made at the conference table," this source said.

Church Plans Are Studied At Leetonia

LEETONIA — A congregational meeting of the First Presbyterian Church will be held Sunday to consider plans for building an educational unit to the church.

The confirmation class of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will meet with the pastor, T. P. Laughner, Sunday evening at 6. The Luther League will meet at 6:30.

Fifteen members of the Presbyterian Church accompanied Rev. William L. Woodall to the Youngstown Presbyterian Home last Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Harry Steele and Mrs. Wayne Raub sang a duet accompanied by Miss Ruth Prior.

Cub Scout Pack 37 held its regular meeting at the Leetonia Methodist Church Wednesday evening, March 23. Posters and other things made by the boys were displayed.

Den 2 was awarded the Cubby Award for having the most parents present. Mrs. David Patterson had charge of the games. Alfred Lee presented badges and pins to those earning them.

A planning meeting will be held at the home of Robert Kornbau at Washingtonville April 6 to plan the fish fry they are sponsoring at Orchard Hill School April 13.

A Parent-Teacher Association executive meeting will be held Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the library of Orchard Hill School.

Tickets Available For Lisbon Minstrel

LISBON — Tickets are still available for the 15th annual American Legion Minstrel Show which will be held Friday and Saturday, April 1 and 2 at Lisbon High School. Fifty members of the post are expected to take part in this year's production.

Only general admission tickets will be sold Friday night, but reserved seat tickets will be available Saturday.

Endmen are Robert Cameron, O. Dale Mason, William Carlisle, Chester Hanna, Dr. Edward Tullis, and Robert Hendricks. William Hailey is the interlocutor.

Soloists are John Snyder, Byron Griffith, Edward Noid, Jerry Sanders, Robert Huffman and William Frew, who will also direct the show. Musicians are Mrs. Graham Kearney, piano; Ralph Rose, drums; Robert Lower, trombone, and Eddie Moore, bass.

Dr. Raymond Weaver and Atty. Richard Kennedy have a duet and dance act.

One of the high lights will be the appearance of the "Sweet Adelines" of East Liverpool, a barbershop chorus of about 30 women.

A women's barbershop quartet within the chorus also will sing.

Other novelty acts and surprises are planned.

Deaths, Funerals

William L. Voss Sr.

LEETONIA — William L. Voss Sr., 89, died Thursday at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, following an illness of three and one-half years.

Born in Bethel, Pa., Aug. 26, 1870, he was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Aolph Voss.

He came to Leetonia in his youth and then went to Harvey, Ill., where he retired in 1956 as general superintendent of the Whiting Company.

His wife, the former Margaret Scully, died in 1941.

He is survived by a daughter, Sister Consolotta of Columbus; two sons, William Voss Jr. of Harvey and John Voss of Houston, Texas; and a sister, Mrs. Mary Woodward of Youngstown.

Funeral service will be Monday at 9 a.m. at St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

Burial will be in Mount Calvary Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Woods Funeral Home Sunday afternoon 2 o'clock and evening.

harmful, unmolested and unharassed" to stay until the courts act on their petitions for writs of habeas corpus. They would not lose their good behavior time as a result of the rebellion.

The agreement, signed by Corrections Commissioner Keith Hampton, three lawyers and the convicts, was contingent upon it being published in Thursday's afternoon's Nashville Banner. It also stipulated Farra and Rivera would not be placed in solitary confinement or in the prison's maximum security unit.

The Banner published an extra edition to carry the agreement.

Mrs. Jerry Tarry, an accounting clerk at the prison and one of the women hostages, said on her release, "We never were really terrified. They didn't threaten us. But they had those guns. We didn't sleep."

Pitfalls Strew Los Angeles Man's Matrimonial Path

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Kalachian, a caterer with an eye for sweetie pies, could have told his tale of woe this way:

The photo he eyed made him seek a bride.

So he went to Greece to marry Denise.

But when he saw Denise, he felt he'd been fleeced.

"She didn't look at all like her picture," Kalachian, 34, said of 19-year-old Denise Drongitis. "I was never so shocked in all my life. She was terrible."

Kalachian said the photo of Denise, shown to him by her uncle in Los Angeles, had been retouched.

So he called off the marriage to his mail-order sweetheart. She doesn't speak enough English, he diplomatically told her family.

Equally diplomatic, the family withdrew Denise from consideration and offered Kalachian Denise's 21-year-old sister, Anastasia. She speaks more English.

Kalachian demurred again. But this time, he said, the male Drongitis crowded around him and warned:

"John, you are going to get married—or you're not ever going to see America again."

The result: Anastasia and Kalachian were married.

On May 12, three days after the wedding, Kalachian boarded a plane for his home in Los Angeles. He assured the Drongitis he'd send for Anastasia.

But Thursday he went to court—and got untied from his bride.

A judge granted him an annulment on the grounds that "force and duress" were used in getting him to marry her.

Anastasia still hasn't heard the news. The uncle who first showed Kalachian the misleading photo was given the task of writing her.

Family Legal Aid Meeting Scheduled

SLEEK & SOLID

Sleek describes what meets the eye. Solid covers the hidden virtues. For sure, you want the beauty. For sure, you want the brawn. Add the Fury V-8 power plant and you get the best of all in the sleek, Solid 1960 Plymouth.

Sleek means several things about the 1960 Plymouth. The neat, trim lines. The styling that says "no wasted metal, no wasted motion." The sure way this car daggers through the wind.

Solid fits, too. It means the strength and durability built into Plymouth's one-piece welded Unibody. It means the steady stance of Torsion-Aire Ride. It means the surging V-8 power up front.

This just might be your car. Best way to find out is to see your Plymouth dealer. This week's a good time. He'll supply the Solid Plymouth for your once-over. You can supply the rest of the words.

A Chrysler-engineered product, built a new solid way to give you solid satisfaction.

38th Annual State High School Cage Tournament Opens

8 Teams Seek AA, A Titles

Cleveland East Tech,
Timken Tilt Tonight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's highest high school sports spectacle, the 38th annual scholastic cage carnival, unfolds at Ohio State's St. John Arena today.

Eight classy quintets, with a scintillating 194 victories in 200 games, shoot for the Class A and Class AA championships.

The eight teams are the survivors of 561 Class A and 432 Class AA teams which began the four-month campaign last fall.

Here's the lineup in today's semifinal round:

CLASS A
1:30 p.m.—Frazeeburg (26-1) vs. New Bremen (26-2).
3:00 p.m.—Salem Local (25-0) vs. New Boston (24-0).

CLASS AA
7:30 p.m.—Canton Timken (24-0) vs. Cleveland East Tech (22-1).
9:00 p.m.—Toledo Scott (22-2) vs. Dayton Roosevelt (25-0).

This year's classic has the ingredients to supply one of the best state tournaments ever. Consider these facts:

Dayton Roosevelt, ranked No. 1 in the AP poll, has the Class AA coach of the year in Johnny Wolansky and the player of the year in Ray Brown.

Cleveland East Tech, beaten only in its opener, is shooting for a third straight crown. If the Scarabs turn the trick, they'll become the second squad in 38 years to make it three in a row. Dayton Stiver won three straight back in 1928, 1929 and 1930.

Toledo Scott, ousted in a semifinal clash in last year's tournament, has the unenviable task of tangling with Roosevelt tonight.

The four Class A teams have never won the state title, but Salem Local of Urbana got a taste of tourney action last year, bowing in a semifinal tiff to Lynwood-Jacksontown.

The top clash in the smaller school division figures to be the Salem Local-New Boston contest. Both are unbeaten and Salem has lost only one in two seasons—that one in last year's state tourney.

Salem has the Class A coach of the year in Bill Hupp and the player of the year in Al Thrasher. But New Boston has a tall, well-balanced outfit that could go all the way.

All eyes will be on unheralded Frazeeburg, a team which lost only one game but failed to get a single vote in the final AP poll. Frazeeburg kayoted Northwest, the 195 kingpin, to advance to the state meet.

Six of the 10 players on the Associated Press All-Ohio teams, four in Class AA and two in A, will be in the playoffs.

In the final AP poll, Roosevelt, East Tech and Canton Timken finished 1-2-3 in AA, with Toledo Scott seventh. In Class A, New Boston was ranked second, Salem third and New Bremen 14th.

Winners of Friday's semifinals vie for all the laurels Saturday. The Class A finale is set for 2 p.m., and the Class AA windup is at 8 p.m.

White Appears

Determined to Quit

BOSTON (AP)—Sammy White today remained determined to quit baseball but admitted uncertainty about how to file the papers which would close the book on a nine-year major league career.

On this bit of paperwork hinges the final verdict on the baseball trade in which White is the key figure.

Only when Commissioner Ford Frick receives the veteran catcher's retirement papers can he void the deal which sent White to Cleveland along with utility man Jim Marshall for catcher Russ Nixon.

"I'm getting the papers ready but I don't know where to send them," White said Thursday. "I've heard three or four different versions of what the proper procedure should be."

Meanwhile White had his fourth telephone conversation with Cleveland General Manager Frank Lane since arriving in Boston Wednesday. He also talked to American League President Joe Cronin who phoned from Scottsdale, Ariz.

"Lane is very understanding man," White said. "We had a long talk and at the end of it we both decided that I still was retired."

In Scottsdale Cronin said: "I told him I thought that at 31 he is too young to retire. I told him he had many years of good baseball ahead of him. Sammy explained that he had his plans set. But he promised he would talk to Lane again, let Lane know there is any change in his plans. We left it at that."

MANAGERS WERE PIRATES

Seven of the present 16 major league baseball managers performing as players for the Pittsburgh Pirates. They are Cookie Lavagetto, Danny Murtaugh, Charlie Grimm, Al Lopez, Casey Stengel, Jimmy Dykes and Bob Elliott.

Sports Glances

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

Our vote for the most outstanding TV public service announcement of the year goes to the National Broadcasting Co. for its revelation that telecasts of its Friday night fights will be discontinued as of September.

Investigations have bared professional boxing as being thoroughly infested with racketeers and the situation has come about largely because of TV. An article by James Stewart-Gordon in the current issue of Readers Digest strongly advocates the abolishment of the so-called sport.

The author points out that on moral grounds, professional boxing is not a sport at all. "It is a sordid business designed to yield maximum profit to the men who control the fighters, the arenas and the TV outlets. The fact that men can be permanently injured or killed in its practice is of little concern to the behind the scenes manipulators."

BOXING IS the only "sport" we can think of where the aim is to physically punish the opponent by knocking him out.

"Considered coldly and on the basis of the evidence," the author says, "professional boxing has absolutely no excuse for continuing to exist. It is time we were civilized enough to abolish this slabby game, on both medical and moral grounds."

"The medical proof is hard to deny. Sometimes a single hard blow to the head causes death by massive cerebral hemorrhage. Since World War II, some 165 boxers have died of injuries suffered in the ring."

The article tells about Johnny Saxton, a former world welterweight champion, who had reportedly earned more than a quarter of a million dollars during eight years in the ring. Saxton is now destitute and owes the government some $16,000 in back taxes.

TODAY, AFTER a suicide attempt, Saxton is a patient in a state hospital, trying to clear the cobwebs from his brain.

Saxton told Gordon, "When I came here I wanted to get out of life. I knew I couldn't fight no more. I was supposed to have got big money from fighting on TV, but I never saw it. No one ever gave me more than a couple of hundred dollars at a time."

"Now I'm here in the hospital. That's what boxing did for me." One of the few to escape the tentacles of the racketeers, Gordon says, is Paul Pender, middleweight titleholder in New York and Massachusetts.

"Boxing," Pender says, "is rotten clear through, infested by gangsters and thieves."

AN AUTHORITY on the racket, Harold Barnes, retired official of the New York State Athletic Commission, a boxing judge for 38 years, is equally vociferous in siding with the author. He is quoted as saying: "I consider boxing legalized murder. I would outlaw it."

Even without the Friday-night fights, there will still be plenty of boxing on television to keep millions of fans happy and the Frankie Carbo's, James Norris's, Blinky Palermo's and Babe Genovese's rich.

Television, and newspapers too, are obsessed with the idea that they must give the public only what they think they want to hear and see. That's why the punch-drunk stereotypes bare their manly chests on TV at least two nights a week and why the bloody battles usually get the best play in the newspapers.

SALEM HIGH'S Dave Hunter will team up with some other top-notch high school cage talent to participate in a junior basketball tournament in East Liverpool early next month.

Besides Hunter, the team will include Nick Milasovich of Youngstown Woodrow Wilson; Bryan Generalovich of Farrell; Ray Bigelow, 6-6 center from East Liverpool; Don Karavas, 6-4 center from Toronto; Nick Novosel, Hubbard's outstanding scorer; Phil Chan, 5-8 set shot artist from East Liverpool; and Jan Burke, also a Potter cager.

Hunter and Milasovich were named to the second and third All-Ohio teams, respectively. Generalovich, 6-4, is the kingpin of Pennsylvania's top cage power. He was also an all-state football player this season at Farrell.

ANOTHER SECTIONAL tournament in the area has let it be known that it would like to latch on to the Quaker basketball team and the cash which comes along with its faithful following.

Tournament Director Ed Schultz of the Alliance Sectional has asked in his report to the district that the Salem Quakers be assigned there in the future.

Ed DeGraw, sports editor of the Alliance Review, quotes Schultz as saying, "From a geographical standpoint, Salem belongs, and if we could have Salem we would actually have one of the best tournaments in the state."

Fine, but to complete the switch, who not move Youngstown South to Struthers, Struthers to Youngstown and Alliance to Canton to do away with some home court advantages?

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR Fred Cope reports that he has just one more date to fill on Salem's 1960-61 basketball schedule which promises to be the toughest in the history of the school. The schedule, which will be released as soon as the final game is arranged, already contains several of the state's top rated teams of this season.

Cope says that he is trying to line up an away game for the open date. Most teams contacted, however, would prefer to come to Salem, the athletic director reports. Reading, Pa., or Cleveland East Tech are possibilities for the open date. The Quakers already have 14 home games under contract for next season.

The Salem coaching staff left for Columbus yesterday afternoon. They will be able to do a little scouting at the state basketball tourney. Two of the four teams in the finals, Dayton Roosevelt and Toledo Scott, are reportedly on the Quakers' 1960-61 schedule.

IF QUAKER COACH John Cabas is offered the Baldwin-Wallace job, which is quite possible, Salem may have a new coach to guide it through the rugged schedule next season. There is still a chance that the highly successful Quaker mentor will turn down the B-W post, even if he is their ultimate choice.

If Cabas does decide to depart, the clamor for the Salem job will be tremendous. Numerous are coaches have told us that they are aching to get a crack at the job here.

Thompson Faces Kid Paret Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Argentina's Federico Thompson goes for broke tonight in a fight that could either earn him a title shot or end his career.

The 32-year-old veteran meets ambitious 23-year-old Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba in a 12-rounder for the right to take on welterweight champion Don Jordan of Los Angeles in a title fight at Las Vegas, Nev., May 27.

Paret, winner over highly regarded Charley Scott in his last two starts, is the 9-5 favorite. The bout will be broadcast and telecast (NBC 10 p.m. Eastern Standard Time) from Madison Square Garden.

Thompson was ready to quit the ring after 12 years of amateur and pro battling when he was signed to meet Jordan in a non-title bout in Buenos Aires. The lean, 5-10 South American knocked out the champion in the fourth round of a resounding upset on Dec. 12.

"I think I can beat Paret," Thompson said. "I know I can take care of Jordan again. If I win the championship will fight maybe another year. But if I lose to Paret, then that will be it. I've had enough of fighting."

A pro 4½ years, Paret has a 30-6-2 record, including eight knockouts. He never has been stopped.

Cardinals Rip Yankees 10-3

Cubs Whip Tribe;
Pirates, A's Win

By The Associated Press
Does it really pay to hold out? Financially, sometimes. Physically, seldom.

Mickey Mantle and Lew Burdette, most persistent of the big name 1960 holdouts, played regulation baseball for the first time this spring in Florida Thursday. Neither really was ready.

Mantle, with an old knee injury aggravated by a training speed-up, went 0-for-4 as his New York teammates were slaughtered 10-3 by the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg.

Burdette, again counted as Milwaukee's No. 1 right-hander, took the mound only five days after signing. The light-hitting Chicago White Sox nailed him for three runs in a ninth-inning rally, but the Braves won 9-7 at Sarasota.

The Braves, however, were cheered by Red Schoendienst's best day of the spring. Red, hustling for his old second base job after being sidelined by tuberculosis last year, had a double and two singles in the five innings he played.

In other Florida games, Washington defeated Los Angeles 9-7 at Orlando, Pittsburgh beat Baltimore 3-2 in 10 innings at Fort Myers, Detroit whipped Philadelphia 9-4 at Clearwater, and in a night game at Tampa, Kansas City edged Cincinnati 4-3 in 10 innings.

In Arizona, the Boston Red Sox blanked the San Francisco Giants 3-0 at Scottsdale, and the Chicago Cubs outscored the Cleveland Indians 8-6 at Mesa.

Pinson Billed As Sure-Fire Future Star

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A new baseball star in the wings. The name is Vada Pinson of the Cincinnati Reds.

Pinson, only 21, is an all-around player with blinding speed. In his first full year in the majors he took over center field at Cincinnati and played every one of the 154 games.

Now and then his inexperience shows, but it usually is the result of trying too hard.

In the early exhibition games this year he had 13 hits in his first 27 at bats, just a shade under 500. He stretches singles into doubles and roves far and wide into left and center.

Freddie Hutchinson, the Cincinnati Manager, considers him a sure-fire big name star of the future.

"If anybody is a potential 400 hitter, Pinson is the man," said Hutchinson, a man not addicted to superlatives. "He hits both left-handers and right-handers. The kid has speed. He can hit to any field with power. He is a good base runner who will be much better."

The averages show Pinson, a left-handed hitter, batted .354 against southpaws and .301 against right-handers last season, en route to a .316 average, fourth best in the National League. He hit 20 homers, knocked in 84 runs and led the league in runs scored with 31.

Pinson would have been "rookie of the year" in 1959 if he hadn't been at bat 96 times in 27 games with the Reds in 1958 after a sensational spring.

"I saw him hit a ball directly at the right fielder and still wind up on second base, making it easy," said Hutchinson. "He really can tap that speed."

One season doesn't make a career but this young man appears to have what it takes.

Colavito Credits 5 Men With Boosting His Baseball Career

By CHUCK SUCH
News' Special Writer

TUCSON, Ariz.—Rocky Colavito, off to the best spring start of his career, credits five men with helping him become one of the top sluggers in baseball today.

"Each of these men helped me with some phase of my hitting," Colavito said. "The men who helped me most were Hank Greenberg, the late Tris Speaker, Ted Williams, Joe Gordon and Bob Kennedy," he continued.

"Greenberg took time out from his busy schedule in the front office to come down on the field to advise me. His advice during the early stages of my career just started to make sense a couple of years ago. Oh, I tried to absorb it but it just didn't register."

"I was confused because I was trying to learn so many things at once. I was getting advice from all sides. Now, it makes sense," Rocky continued.

"Tris Speaker wanted me to move up on the plate. I used to stand as far back as I could. Once I took his advice, I felt much better at the plate. But it took a while. It was awkward at first."

"Tris also harped on throwing the bat at the ball. He used to say, 'Let the bat do the work.' It was sound advice."

Bliss, Lease Drugs Win Basketball Games

Three Bliss Company hot shots hit in the double figures last night as Bliss blasted the Independents 44-19 in Slow-Break Basketball League action at the Memorial Building.

In the only other play, Lease Drugs dropped Arnell Construction, 36-24. MIVCO forfeited to Gasco.

R. Perkins was high point man in the lopsided Bliss-Independent battle, getting 16 points on five fielders and six fouls. Close behind were D. Perkins and Urschler with 12 points each.

Youngpeter dropped in 15 points to lead his Arnell teammates and the victorious Lease, in scoring. Greene of Lease was right behind with 14. The contest was close until the fourth quarter when Lease scored 13 points to Arnell's six. The halftime score was 14-12.

WINS WRESTLING MATCH

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Doug Ryan of Ohio University won his first match and lost his second in the 147-pound class of the NCAA tournament Thursday. In the first round Ryan defeated James Estabrook of Harvard in 8:06. In the second round, Larry Hayes of Iowa State pinned Ryan in 7:19.

Celtics Win Eastern Title

St. Louis Rolls
Over Minneapolis

By The Associated Press
History didn't repeat itself. The Boston Celtics won the National Basketball Assn.'s Eastern Division playoffs in six games instead of the seven it took them last year, and the Minneapolis Lakers failed to eliminate St. Louis in the Western playoffs in six games as they did a year ago.

The Celtics nipped Philadelphia 119-117 Thursday night and won the best-of-seven finals in six games. St. Louis forced the Lakers to a seventh game with a 117-96 victory.

Tom Heinsohn's tip-in shot in the final nine seconds broke a 117-all tie for Boston's victory Thursday night. Bill Sharman, held to only 10 points, got his last two tie prior to Heinsohn's winner to tie the score after fouls by Wilt Chamberlain and Paul Arizin had sent the Warriors ahead. Two missed fouls by Guy Rodgers helped Boston gain possession of the ball and go for the winning basket.

St. Louis never was threatened as it forced the Lakers to play the deciding game on the Hawks' court Saturday.

The Celtics will meet the winner in a best-of-seven series for the title starting with a nationally televised (NBC) game in Boston Sunday.

Hunter Certain to be Named to North Squad

Ohio Coaches Pick All-Star Game Teams

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's high school basketball coaches had more than the state tournament to worry about as they assembled here today.

Their pet project, the North-South All-Star game scheduled June 18 at Troy's Hobart Arena was in a heap of a mess.

Directors of the coaches' association met Thursday night to select the 10-man squads for the third annual all-senior classic, but the five representatives from the big northeastern sector were still unsettled when the session broke up is the wee, small hours.

Less Than 200 Vote
Of the more than 700 association members, fewer than 200 turned in ballots on the all-star selections, which resulted in some weird situations. From the northeast, where there are more than 170 members, only 33 voted—28 from the metropolitan Youngstown area, three from Cleveland and two from Akron.

The result was that All - Ohio choices Gene Lane of two-time state champion Cleveland East Tech, and John Namciu of unbeaten Canton Timken were left off the squad. Three Youngstown players and two from just a mashie shot away were high in the voting.

The directors immediately decided to poll the district again to get a more representative vote, and it probably will be taken here Saturday morning or by mail early next week.

Kate Named AA Coach
Ken Kate of Canton Timken was named Class AA coach in charge of the northern squad, and the Class A berth probably will go to Jerome Schacht of New Bremen although final selection has not been made. Kate has the privilege of picking one player, and undoubtedly it will be high-scoring Namciu from his own squad.

The south had better luck, although voting was skimpy in spots. Only eight of more than 100 voted from the eastern district, five of them from Steubenville. In the central district only three of 32 AA mentors voted, while the Class A group was represented 100 per cent—with the result that two smaller school representatives won the coveted berths.

John Woolums of top-rated Dayton Roosevelt in Class AA, and Bill Hupp of Salem Local at Urbana in Class A, were named to coach the rebel all-stars.

Selected for the all-star positions

Southern Team
Eastern District: Sandy Williams of Steubenville, and Robert Patton of Martins Ferry.

Southeastern District: Frank Christie of Marietta, and Leroy Frazier of New Boston.

Southwestern District: Ray Brown of Dayton Roosevelt, and Larry Elssasser of Cincinnati Central.

row, and Ed Tucker of Columbus Central.

Northern Team

Northwest District: All - Ohio Ray Wolford of Toledo Scott, George Kirk of Marion Harding, Howard Komives of Toledo Woodward, and Dave Wait of Ashland. Alternates are Jerry Bohus of Mansfield, and Bob Middaugh of Norwalk.

Jim Snowden of Youngstown East and Dave Hunter of Salem, both second team All-Ohio selections, and third-team choice Nick Milasnowich of Youngstown Woodrow Wilson, were top choices in the northeast, and there was no argument about their selection. But the new vote was ordered when directors felt Lane and Namciu should outrank the others named in the top-heavy Youngstown ballots.

Paul Walker of Middletown, secretary of the association, told the coaches at the meeting opened that the voting was "too skimpy to name representative teams," but the board voted to go ahead with the ballots on hand. Only after the result had been tabulated did the decision come to poll the district again.

Lou Juillerat, Troy coach, said the all-star sponsors would turn over one-fourth of the profits on the contest to the coaches' association, and that the competing teams would be allowed to keep most of their equipment.

The Trojas mentor also said the Optimist Club was considering inauguration of a southwestern district all-star football game to be held late in the summer.

"With the North-South game awarded Canton on a permanent basis," Juillerat said, "we'd like to have one on a district basis. We have decided we won't use any boys invited to this year's Aug. 13 game at Canton, but after that it probably will be a fight for talent in our area."

He said the Troy game, if it materializes, will be held the same week as the Canton classic which is co-sponsored by the coaches' association and has the approval of the Ohio High School Athletic Assn.

Commissioner W. J. McConnell later addressed the directors and urged against further all - star games.

"We'd better keep what we've got, and not ruin it by having too many," the commissioner said. "Many states do not allow all-star games of any kind, do not allow such participation by schools, players or coaches, and we could run into such a rule here by the principals if too many such games are held."

Questions and Answers

Q — Why are the Welsh people called the "Singing Nation"?
A — It is as natural for them to sing as it is for most people to talk, and their famous singing festivals, the Eisteddfods, have a history of many centuries.
Q — How old is Social Security?
A — The first monthly benefits under the Federal social insurance system were paid for the month of January, 1940, just 20 years ago.

Presbyter to Speak In Area Churches

The Rev. John C. Little, general presbyter of Mahoning Presbytery, the United Presbyterian Church, will be guest speaker at the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday in the Concord Presbyterian Church and at 9:30 a.m. in the Ellsworth Presbyterian Church.

This is the opening service of a week of evangelistic services at the Concord Church with services planned for 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.
Rev. Little will conduct all of the services except Thursday evening, when the pastor, the Rev. Emory G. Lowe Jr., will be in charge.
Sermon titles include: Sunday, "Mark of a Great Church"; Monday, "Sin Is Costly"; Tuesday, "Never - the - Less"; Wednesday, "God Gave Him Another Heart"; Thursday, "The Condition of Discipleship"; and Friday, "He Made Them Fishers of Men."
Music on the respective nights include: Vocal solo by Patty Weingart; male quartet from the Salem First Friends Church; accordion selections; marimba selections by Harry Roller; and vocal solo by Gail Bartych.
The public is invited to attend.

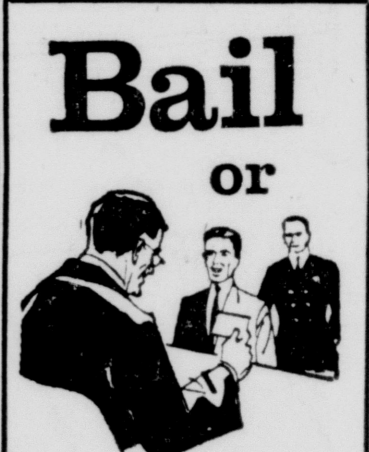

Boy Scouts

Summitville Troop 47
A large American flag donated by Mrs. Ida Mercer of Wellsville, was received by Summitville Boy Scout Troop 47 at a recent meeting in Franklin Local School. Presentation of the flag was made by Councilman Bob Mercer, the donor's son.
Other councilmen present were Clair McIntosh, Brian Grubbs and Bill Swinger.
Jack Hanley, scout master, conducted the meeting. The recent camp out at Camp McKinley was discussed, and Paul Norton and Johnny Nemeth were each presented a compass for telling the most original stories.
The public is invited to a record hop at the school April 26. All parents are urged to attend as plans will be made at that time for a spaghetti supper, and there will be a discussion on ways and means for the scouts to attend summer camp.

Cub Pack No. 2
Cub Pack No. 2 met at the home of Mrs. Agnes Crawford, den mother, when the cubs worked on their scrap books and the state flag.
